This well is 120 feet deep, and was dug fifteen years ago. The first twenty feet was hardpan and the rest coarse grayel. Before a rainstorm the wild blows out of this well with great force, making a roaring sound that can be heard a long distance. This wind is so hot that water placed on the cover of the well will boil. The wind blows out only before a storm, and the severity and duration of the storm are always in exact proportion to the force of this current and its duration before the storm commences. It is, therefore, an accurate and trustworthy barometer, as it foretells a change from cold to hot, or vice versa, with equal accuracy, but remains the quiet is settled weather.

In winter a current of air is drawn in before a change of weather, just as forcibly as it blows out in bot weather. This current will freeze the water 120 feet from the surface of the earth as quickly as it would at the surface, and shough many attempts have been mails to use a pump is the well they have all failed, and a number of pumps of different makes have been destroyed by the water freezing and bursting the cylinders and pipes.

the warships of Great Britain which are understood to require a complement of 110,000 men, whereas only 100,000 are said to be actually in service. The naval reserve problem has long been discussed by British authorities and the general opinion appears to be that the number of men available is far short of the number which would be required in case of war. In addition to the men of the naval reserve, Great Britain has a large reserve theet and a number of reserve merchant cruisers, including such vessels as the Campania, Lucania, Erroria, Limbria, Majestic, Teuronic, Empress of India, Empress of China, Empress of Japan, Himalaya, Australia, Victoria and Arca dia.

The Tide of Prosperity

Those people who have been borrow ing a great deal of trouble over the new tarifilaw will be sadly disappointed at The revenues have been steadily increasing and on Wednesday the receipts and expenditures were so nearly balanced that the Washington correspondent of the Boston Herald declared that the remaining days of the month ought to more than wips out the deficit. In addition to this most encouraging condition the Herald also notes a "story of prosperity from Scheneutady and comments upon it as follows ments upon it as follows

There may be a little rose color in title picture, but we are consident that in the main it is true to the fact.

Any, we sincerely believe that the general busness a tuation is fairly reflected therein.
No doubt, in some sections of the I untel that depression still exists. The low ness a tuation is large reflected.
No doubt, in some sections of the larted States depression still exists. The low price of cotton and the over-production in manufacture count against the return of prosperity, but from a national point of year these drawbacks are hardby more than the eddies in a flowing tide. Isken as a whole, this country has never mour day seen a better holissy season than it is now en lying

The voice of the culamits shouter is wing weaker as the tide of returning sperity sweeps over the land

A Sharp Reminder.

One of the Democratic new-papers which are now shop ing most loudly the acquisition of Hawait is Henry Watterson's I purville Counter-Journal An unferling contemporary cruelly rem ads it that in 1812 the Courier Journal was declaiming just as vocid erously against the acquisition of Oregon, and declaring "Of all the countries upon the face of the earth Oregon is one of the least favored by heaven It as the mere r dillings of creation. It is a most as barren as Sahara, and quite as unbesithy as the Campana of its y Eussia has her Siberia and Lugland her Butany Bay, and if the United States should ever need country to which to banish her rogues and scoundrels the utility of such a region as Oregon would be demonstrated This reminder is a real home thrust. And yet a few years hence many of the arguments which are now being adduced against Hawan will doubtless seem every whit as ridiculous

No Fear of War

I identhe above caption the Boston Advertiser discusses the foreign situstion as follows I'erhaps it was to have is en expected that the present complication in the far east would be made to perveus a basis for rumors of war be tween the great European powers The situation in Eastern Asia today, however, is not such as to inspire any strong behefus to a forcible outcome of the complications there The great powers of hurope are not going to fight over so small a matter as a few hundred or a few thousand square miles of Chinese territory | The situation has undoubtedly created some widespread interest, which makes it profitable for newspa, pera to discuss the question of what might happen in the event of war, but nobody seriously believes for one mo ment that a warlike outcome is to be it is not even probable that the Luropean powers will hold a conference over the objection of Chinese occupation Lossis and Germany will secure some wort of a foothold in thing and will probably be eatished with such a result o ther pians fot the present Ligiand may not secure are special privilege at this thus but will probably take steps to oring about some concession later looks as if all had been done that is like ly to be done at this time and the pres ent trouble will gradually subside in the next few week?

Now that Russia and Germany have ecured some commercial advantages in China it is not likely that they can seri tually object when England also secures some similar concession. It is probable however that while Russia and Ger many are anxious to secure as much territory as possible the British govern ment will be content to protect the commercial interests of Great Britain. The a quisition of a port on the Chinese coast through which exports and imports may be made will probably be enough to satisfy the representatives of the Queen While Russia and Germany therefore may establish colonies in China it is unlikely that the British govern ment will follow any such policy

It is true the gross returns have been large since the pneumatic-tired broycle was put upon the market, but the expenses of advertising and estab fishing agencies were also a very considerable item. The advertising was necessary, in order to educate the public in the use of the bloycle. Every one rides a wheel today, but it was only very few years ago that the bicycle was a novel; on the roads of the country comparatively amail, and a woman rider was an uncommon sight. As soon as the bigvie was an assured success capital invested with a rush, and new concerns reaped the benefit of the advertis ing which the standard companies had been obliged to pay for. In a short time machine shops sprang up like mushrooms, and the actual cost of making a bicycle not out. The new concerns soon engaged in cutting prices, as was inevitable. for many of them were doing business on borrowed capital and had to sell their products or go under. Simultaneously with the creation of plants for the manufacture of the whole bleycle, lacking the tires, workshops were started everywhere to make part of the machine, and a big industry in the "assembling" of these parts sprang up.

Conflicting News.

There seems to be considerable diffiulty in ascertaining the true condition of affairs in the Klondike region. One day the papers are filled with the most heart-rending accounts of the sufferings or the people who have rushed into that part of the country for gold. It is represented that the food supply has practically given out and that the miners are confronted with starvation. The next day an entirely different coloring is given the altuation. Pravious reports are decied and the suggestion of anythe I reasury figures for this month thing like a famine is scouted. In view of these conflicting reports one finds i impossible to tell which is fact and which is fiction.

There is no use taking, the hadaence from prize lighting is had and is ex-emplified in a "scrap that took place secretly in the presence of a few laterested ones in an old barn in Brewer Thursday. The puglistic party was composed of youngsters not over ten years of age and the puglists, who called themselves Corbett and Firzsin. mons, fought to a finish with large gloves, the winner being Corbett, who immediately challenged the next man, assumed to be kild McCoy, and him out also. The admission to the bout was ten pins each and betting played a lively part in the stene. This is begin. terested ones in an old barn in Brewer lively part in the scene. A Brilliant Ever

The reception tendered the members and parish of the First Congregational church in this city last evening was one of the most brilliant events of the season. The church vest; y having been converted into a magnificent and spacious recepnon roo : was profusely decorated with evergreen and potted plants which im, pregnated the air with a most delightful and refreshing odor. An orthesirs of four pieces under the direction of Mr. Roland J Saw yer furnished music for the occasion and while the sweet atrains filled every rook and corner of the beautifully arranged apartment, everyoody enjoyed themselves in social chats. The corps of ushers comprised four of Brewe, swell known 3 oung ladies who were dressed in white as follows. Miss Grate Woodbury, Miss Sue Swett, Miss Linel Crocker and Miss Lottle Hardy. Those of the reception committee were Rev B B Merrill and Mrs. Merrill. Mr. and Mrs C O Farrington, Mr and Mrs Samuel Stone, Mr and Mrs Samue Reyal, Mr and Mrs Mapley Hardy, Dr and Mrs C P. Thomas, Mr and Mrs. A A kenney, Mr and Mrs. Chas. Curtis, Mr. and Mrs E. B Burr and

MILITARY DISCIPLING.

Some Novel Propositions From the Whe If a soldier or a sailor is a blackguard, the proper remedy is not for his officers to outblackguard him by torturing him, but simply to turn him out of the service. If outblackguard him by torturing him, but simply to jurn him out of the service. If he desires nothing, better, then his dismissal is a benefit both to himself and the service. If he does not desire it, then he will do his best to mend his ways so as to be allowed to stay in it. If an officer is a blackgoard, a tyrant or an incompetent misance, the proper remedy is for the soldier to refuse to serve under him. This means that the soldier should be as free to leave the army as Lam, to leave the staff of this journal. To retain a well conducted saidier in the army against his will is to make a slave of a man who has done nothing to descree it."

The luds who want to leave the fleet so badly that they will strike their officers and face flogging dad imprisonment for the sake of the dismissig will be provided with an honorable means of retreat. I loak forward to the time when the army will be reformed by a powerful trades union of the rank and file, which shall drive incompetent officers out of the army as effectually as the control operatives of Laucashire drive incompetent complexes out of the trade.

I would trust them unhesitatingly with an undisputed legal right to receive an order to charge on the field of battle itself by striking then and there for another twopence a day if that atruck them as a favorable moment. I am perfectly aware that with every demand made and enforced on behalf of the men, the standard of ability among officers would go up and whole betches of stiff necked dolts who now blunder their way along, making infinite trouble for the Robertess and costing the country huge sures for "discipline," would be refred as useless.
